Geocomputing Seminar

DGVM LPJmL

Fabian Stenzel
IRI THESys, Humboldt-Universität zu Berlin

Application of bioenergy plantations for CO2 extraction from the atmosphere

We analyze the application of bioenergy plantations for CO2 extraction from the atmosphere, and the associated changes for global carbon and water fluxes. For this, we model the biosphere with a dynamic global vegetation model and analyze climate pathways for the 21st century regarding their impacts.

Friday, 20 October 2017
C406 (Lamont), 10:15 - 11:45